How do I completely replace my existing homepage / website ?

Problem:

You have an existing homepage and website at EUserv and would like to replace it completely by a new designed one.

Procedure:

1. Delete all existing files of the old website from the folder "www/data" on the server. Make sure that all data have been deleted.

The files are deleted when you receive an error message from the server when calling up your website address.

2. Upload the new files to your server via FTP. Make sure that you are using the correctly named start page (index.htm). After another refresh of your Internet address the new homepage should be displayed by now.
